

Committee on Development and Intellectual Property (CDIP)

Twenty-First Session
Geneva, May 14 to 18, 2018

GAP ANALYSIS OF WIPO'S EXISTING TECHNOLOGY TRANSFER SERVICES AND ACTIVITIES IN RESPECT OF THE WIPO DEVELOPMENT AGENDA "CLUSTER C" RECOMMENDATIONS

Document prepared by the Secretariat

1. During its eighteenth session, held from October 31 to November 4, 2016, the Committee on Development and Intellectual Property (CDIP) agreed to go forward with items 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6 of the Joint Proposal of the Delegations of the United States, Australia, and Canada on activities related to Technology Transfer contained in Annex I of document CDIP/18/6 Rev.1. Item 6 of the approved proposal states as follows:

"In line with the Committee's decision reflected in the Summary by the Chair of CDIP/16 that invited interested Member States to submit proposals for discussion at the eighteenth session of the Committee, we encourage Member States to submit to the Committee concrete, practical projects that deliver tangible outcomes for Member States with the goal to promote international technology transfer, build capacity in least developed, developing and transitional countries to enable more effective technology transfer and improve collaboration between technology transfer participants. As a first step and in building on the valuable work of the recent mapping exercise in document CDIP/17/9, the Secretariat should undertake a gap analysis of WIPO's existing Technology transfer-related services and activities in respect of the WIPO Development Agenda "Cluster C" recommendations, in order to assist in the consideration and evaluation of any proposals and priority areas, going forward. The results should not preclude the provision of similar projects for different beneficiaries."

2. The Annex to this document contains the above requested gap analysis of WIPO's existing technology transfer-related services and activities in respect of the WIPO Development Agenda "Cluster C" recommendations.

3. The CDIP is invited to consider the information contained in the Annex to this document.

[Annex follows]

INTRODUCTION AND METHODOLOGY

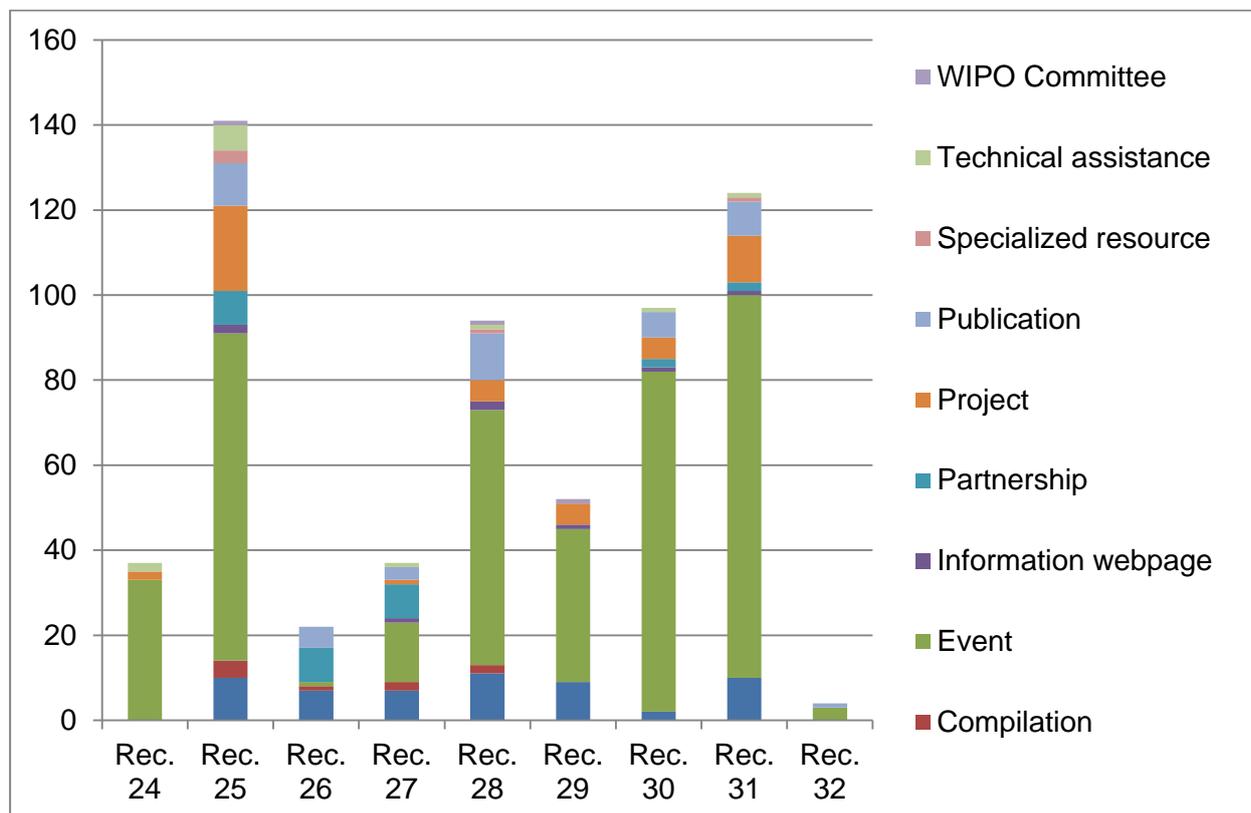

1. The WIPO Development Agenda “Cluster C” comprises nine recommendations (24 to 32) related to “Technology Transfer, Information and Communication Technologies (ICT) and Access to Knowledge”.
2. The current document provides a general analysis rather than a specific gap analysis of activities indicated for each of the Cluster C recommendations, since no indicators or benchmarks have ever been defined so as to allow an objective gap analysis of how and by how much the activities undertaken by WIPO within specific recommendations have contributed to achieving the often broad objectives stated in those recommendations.
3. Therefore, the analysis provided below refers to the technology transfer-related services and activities carried out by WIPO during the period from 2014 to 2017 with specific reference to the Development Agenda “Cluster C” recommendation to whose fulfillment they contribute. An indication is also provided for each service or activity of the type of service or activity. The type of service is given according to the methodology agreed by the Committee on Development and Intellectual Property for document CDIP/20/11.
4. An analysis is also provided of WIPO’s projects for implementation of Development Agenda recommendations according to the Development Agenda “Cluster C” recommendation to whose fulfillment they contribute.
5. The two analyses as discussed below may assist in the consideration and evaluation of proposals and priority areas as they relate to Development Agenda “Cluster C” recommendations.

DISCUSSION

6. The analysis of WIPO’s technology transfer-related services and activities carried out during the period from 2014 to 2017 comprises a total of 425 such services and activities. The analysis of WIPO’s projects for the implementation of Development Agenda recommendations comprises a total of 10 such projects.
7. It should be noted that certain services and activities can be considered to contribute to the fulfillment of more than one Development Agenda “Cluster C” recommendation. For example, a service or activity might be considered to contribute to both Recommendation 30 and 31 and would consequently be included under both recommendations in the analysis. As a result, the combined number of activities for all Development Agenda “Cluster C” recommendations exceeds the total number of services and activities indicated above.
8. It should also be noted that activities may not be identical in scope with respect to other activities. For example, an awareness-raising and training program may comprise several months of skills development, while an event may comprise several days of such content. Consequently, the number of activities for a given Development Agenda “Cluster C” recommendation may not be directly comparable, in particular across different types of activities.
9. It should finally be noted that projects specifically may overlap partially or fully with certain other services or activities. For example, a service or activity might have been launched or carried out within the framework of a project and could be included indirectly within the project and directly as a service or activity. This approach has been taken to ensure that projects are reflected in the analysis in their full scope rather than according to specific services or activities only.

10. The figure below shows the distribution of services and activities for each Development Agenda “Cluster C” recommendation, categorized by type of activity, which allows the identification of those recommendations where there have been a greater or lesser number of activities contributing towards achieving the recommendations’ corresponding objectives, so as to be able to assist in future considerations of project proposals in possible priority areas.
