ANNEXUniform Law on Appellations of Origin

Article 1

An appellation of origin shall be any geographical name of a country, region or locality which serves to designate goods originating therein, the quality and characteristics of which are due exclusively or essentially to the geographical environment, including natural and human factors.

Article 2

Rules adopted after consultation with interested professional groups and the African and Malagasy Industrial Property Office shall determine the areas and places, the goods of which may claim exclusive rights to an appellation of origin, and the conditions under which such goods may be produced.

The Rules may specify the indications which are reserved for use on the goods to which the appellation applies.

The Rules shall designate the Authorities responsible for the application of the law and regulations governing appellations of origin and for the supervision of their application. They shall determine the jurisdiction and powers of the Authorities so designated.

Article 3

The use in the course of trade of an appellation of origin in contravention of the legal provisions governing the appellation shall be an offense liable to the penalties provided for in Articles 4 and 5 and shall give a right of action for damages to producers having an exclusive right to the appellation and to associations or groups of such producers. This provision shall apply even where the true origin of the goods is indicated or where a translation of the appellation is used or where terms such as "kind," "type," "make" or "imitation" or the like are included.

Article 4

Any person who knowingly affixes, or causes to appear by addition, removal or any other alteration, appellations of origin on goods offered or designated for sale, or on a commercial or publicity document concerning such goods, in contravention of this Uniform Law, shall be liable to imprisonment for not less than three months and not more than one year, and to a fine of from 50,000 to 300,000 francs CFA (Communauté française Afrique), or to either of these penalties.

Article 5

Any person who knowingly sells, offers for sale or places in circulation goods bearing an appellation of origin in violation of this Uniform Law, shall be liable to the same penalties.

Article 7

Criminal proceedings may be instituted by:

- the Authorities referred to in Article 2 or by the public prosecutor;
- any injured person as determined by the law of the place where the offense was committed.

Article 8

The court may order the confiscation of goods improperly bearing an appellation of origin. Such goods, after removal of the appellation, shall be given to charitable institutions or destroyed.

The court may also order the placarding of the judgment or its publication in full or in part, at the defendant's expense, in such newspapers as the court may order.

Article 9

Civil proceedings brought separately from the criminal proceedings shall take place before the competent civil court. The provisions of Article 8 shall apply.

Article 10

Producers and groups of producers referred to in Articles 3 and 13 may, in pursuance of an order by the President of the Civil Tribunal in whose jurisdiction the operations are to be carried out, proceed to a detailed designation and description of the goods on which an appellation of origin has been affixed in violation of their rights, with or without seizure thereof, by way of bailiffs, or public or ministerial officers, with the assistance, where necessary, of an expert.

The order shall be issued on production of evidence as to the applicant's rights. When there is ground for seizure, the said order may require the person seeking seizure to furnish security, which he shall be obliged to deposit before taking steps to effect such seizure. Security will always be required from any foreigner seeking seizure.

The detainers of the articles described or seized shall be furnished with a copy of the order and, where applicable, of the document certifying that security has been furnished, under penalty of nullity and damages against the bailiff, or the public or ministerial officer.

(3) For the purpose of such advertisement the applicant may be required to furnish at his expense a wood block or electro-type (or more than one if necessary) of the trade mark, of such dimensions and character as may from time to time be directed by the Registrar, or such other information or means of advertising the trade mark as may be required by the Registrar.

(4) The applicant shall furnish at his own expense an Arabic translation of the matter required for such advertisement.

Non-Completion of Applications

29. — The notice of the non-completion of an application under Section 9(3) of the Act shall be sent by the Registrar in writing in the Form TM No. 7. Entry on the Register

30. — As soon as may be after the expiration of six months from the date of the advertisement in the Gazette of any application the Registrar shall, subject to any opposition and the determination thereof and upon payment of the prescribed fee, enter the trade mark on the Register. The entry of a trade mark on the Register shall contain mention of the date of the registration, the goods in respect of which it is registered and all particulars set forth in Section 9 of the Act together with particulars of the trade, business, profession or occupation, if any, of the proprietor and such other particulars as the Registrar may deem necessary.

Death of Applicant

31. — In the case of the death of any applicant for a trade mark after the date of his application and after the trade mark applied for has been entered on the Register, the Registrar whether after or before the expiration of the prescribed period of advertisement may, on being satisfied of the applicant's death, enter on the Register, in place of the name of such deceased applicant, the name, address and description of the person owning the goodwill of the business on such ownership being proved to the satisfaction of the Registrar.

Certificate of Registration

32. — Upon the registration of a trade mark, or a registered user, the Registrar shall issue to the applicant a certificate on Form TM No. 9 or Form TM No. 10.

Renewal of Registration

33. — (1) At any time not less than two and not more than three months before the expiration of the last registration of a trade mark, the proprietor of the mark or his agent may apply on Form TM No. 13 for the renewal of the registration of the mark and deposit the prescribed fee at the office of the Registrar.

Any applicant shall endorse upon the form his name, nationality and address in the Sudan. The Registrar may require an applicant other than the registered owner or his agent to furnish within one month an authority to pay the fee signed by the registered owner and if he does not produce such authority the Registrar may return the fee.

In any other case the Registrar shall inform the registered owner or his agent that the fee has been received and that the registration will be renewed.

(2) (a) At a date not less than two and not more than three months before the expiration of the last registration of a trade mark, if no application for renewal has been made, the Registrar shall send to the registered owner to his registered address a notice in the Form TM No. 14.

(b) If on the date of expiration of the registration of the trade mark the renewal fee has not been paid, the Registrar shall advertise the fact forthwith in the Gazette and if within two months of such advertisement application for renewal and payment of the fee together with the extra fee prescribed are received, he may renew the registration without removing the mark from the Register.

(3) The above provisions shall apply to registered users provided that the conditions of Section 19(4) of the Act are complied with.

Removal of Trade Mark from Register

34. — (1) Where after two months from such advertisement as in Rule 33(2)(b) the prescribed fees have not been paid, the Registrar may remove the mark from the Register as from the date of the expiration of the last registration; but if subsequently the renewal fee and the extra fee prescribed are paid, he may restore the mark to the Register where he is satisfied that it is just to do so, and upon such conditions as he may think fit.

Where a trade mark is removed from the Register, the Registrar shall cause to be entered in the Register a record of the removal and of the cause thereof.

(2) A notice of the removal of the registration shall be sent to the registered owner in the Form TM No. 16 and the removal shall be advertised in the Gazette.

Assignment

35. — (1) An application for assignment under Section 21 of the Act shall be made on the Form TM No. 11 and the assignee shall furnish a sworn declaration on Form TM No. 12.

(2) In the case of an application by a person abroad the assignment must be accompanied by the certificate required under Section 10(2) of the Act.

(3) In cases in which the ownership of a trade mark has devolved by reason of the death of the registered owner, the person entitled on such devolution may apply in like manner so far as may be possible for registration as proprietor thereof.

(4) Applicants for registration under this Section shall produce to the Registrar the certificate of registration of the trade mark.

Proof of Title to a Trade Mark

36. — In any case the Registrar may call on any person who desires to be registered as proprietor of a trade mark for such proof or additional proof of title and of the existence and ownership of such goodwill as the Registrar may require.

Alteration of Address or Name

37. — Every registered owner of a trade mark who changes his address or name shall forthwith apply to the Registrar to insert the new address or name on the Register, and the Registrar shall upon payment of the prescribed fee alter the Register accordingly.

38. — Before exercising any discretionary power given to the Registrar by the Act, the Registrar shall, if so required, hear the person who will be affected by the exercise of such power.

Application for Hearing

39. — An application for a hearing shall be made within one month from the date when the matter on which the Registrar is called on to exercise discretionary power has arisen.

Period of Notice

40. — Upon receipt of such application, the Registrar shall give the applicant ten days' notice of time when he may be heard by himself or his agent.

Within five days from the date when such notice would be delivered in the ordinary course of post, the applicant shall notify the Registrar whether or not he intends to be heard on the matter.

Decision of Registrar

41. — The decision of the Registrar in the exercise of any such discretionary power as aforesaid shall be notified to the persons affected.

Search

42. — The Registrar, if required to do so in writing upon Form TM No. 15 and upon payment of the prescribed fee, may cause a search to be made in any class to ascertain whether any marks are on record at the date of such search which may resemble any mark sent in duplicate to him by the person requesting such search, and may cause that person to be informed of the result of such search.

Liability of Registrar

43. — The Registrar shall not incur any liability at law for any inaccuracy appearing in a statement or notification as the result of any search made under these Rules.

Hours of Inspection

44. — The office shall be open to the public every day of the week between the hours of 9 and 12 except on days which are officially recognized as public holidays or such days as may from time to time be notified by a notice posted in a conspicuous place at the office of the Registrar.

Any person desiring to inspect the Register may do so at any time at which the office is open during the hours limited as above subject to payment of the prescribed fee.

Application to the Court

45. — (1) Application to the Court shall be made in accordance with the procedure established by the Civil Justice Ordinance and the Rules of Court thereunder, provided that such application shall be made within one month from the decision appealed against or within such further time as the Registrar shall allow. Such applications shall be heard as a suit and fees paid.

(2) When the Registrar refuses to accept an application for registration of a trade mark and an appeal is made to the Court against his decision under Section 16(2) of the Act, the Registrar shall advertise his refusal in the Gazette. The date of such advertisement shall be deemed to be the date of the application; and any person may within six months from the date of publication file at the Court a notice of opposition to the registration.

NEWS CONCERNING NATIONAL PATENT OFFICES

NETHERLANDS

Report of the Octrooiraad *

In 1969 the total number of patent applications filed was 19,700 — about 800 more than in 1968. Evidently, the continual increase in the number of patent applications since World War II has not yet come to an end. It is difficult to forecast when the number will cease to increase. In some countries where there has been a similar increase, there are symptoms of some stabilization. For the purpose of prognosis, the Octrooiraad (Netherlands Patent Office) has, for some time now, anticipated the filing of about 20,000 patent applications annually. This number was nearly reached in 1969.

Under the “deferred examination procedure,” introduced by an amendment of January 1, 1964, to the Patents Act, not all the 20,000 applications expected need to be examined. The amended Patents Act provides a procedure with two phases: a “search,” which in practice is mainly directed to the state of the art with regard to the application, and then the actual granting procedure, leading to the grant or refusal of a patent. Both phases must be initiated successively by a special request, which the applicant may file within seven years of filing his application. This period allows him to evaluate his economic interest in exploiting the invention, and in obtaining exclusive rights.

* Extract from the introduction to the Annual Report of the Netherlands Patent Office for 1969.

A result of this procedure has been that applications have lapsed without the Octrooiraad having had to carry out a search and/or granting procedure, which was what was intended by the amendment to the Law.

It is still too early to draw definite conclusions from six years' experience with the deferred examination system. But the figures for these years show rather clearly that for 65 % of the applications filed, an examination is requested; and for 40 to 45 % of those filed, the subsequent granting procedure is initiated. On the basis of these percentages, out of the 20,000 annual applications expected, the Octrooiraad should anticipate 13,000 requests for novelty search and 8-9,000 requests for the grant of a patent.

In 1969 these figures were 10,811 and 5,782 respectively. They represent a rise in an increasing spiral of requests, which will only diminish when the first complete set of patents filed under the amended Patents Act of 1964 have reached the end of their seven-year period in force.

The present number of members and technical staff of the Octrooiraad (167 persons at the end of 1969) is by no means sufficient in face of an annual 13,000 requests for novelty search and 8-9,000 requests for grant. In fact, the present staff was not even large enough for the requests filed in 1969. With the Government's approval, it was therefore decided to make increasing use of Section 22 I (4) of the Netherlands Patents Act, by requesting the International Patent Institute (IIB) at the Hague for advice in respect of novelty. The request for advice means that, when there is a request for novelty search, the IIB is charged with the search in respect of the state of the art; under Section 22 I (5), the search report is sent to the applicant. In 1969 4,000 requests for novelty search were handed over to the IIB. This number will gradually rise to 10,000 a year, which means that the Octrooiraad itself will have to prepare approximately 3,000 search reports.

This practice is in line with the IIB's development since its establishment in 1947. The object of the Institute is to undertake, upon request, searches into the state of the art in respect of patents and patent applications in the member countries. For these searches, the Institute shares the documentation of the Octrooiraad. Centralization of the novelty search in respect of patent applications can save duplication of work now being done by various Patent Offices in respect of applications relating to the same invention. During the first years of its existence, the IIB did not derive full profit from its work, as requests for novelty search were received mainly from applicants and patentees. Since then, however, Switzerland has entrusted the IIB with the novelty search in respect of applications for which search is required by the Swiss Patent Law; and an amendment to the French Patent Law, a few years ago, means that novelty search in the case of a large number of French applications will be carried out by the IIB. By entrusting an increasing number of novelty searches to the IIB, the Netherlands — like other countries — contributes to the object of the Institute. As a result, the Octrooiraad will be relieved of much work in the development and maintenance of the technical documentation, in respect of which the IIB is making an increasing contribution.

The granting procedure, initiated upon request following the search by the IIB, is left to the Octrooiraad. This procedure has two phases: the first phase is the preparation of the material for the Application Division (Section 23(1) and (3)); the second phase takes place before this Division and ends with a decision on the application (Section 23(5)). Both phases were formerly the responsibility of different people: on the one hand an examiner, who had also carried out the novelty search, on the other hand a member or deputy member of the Octrooiraad. When novelty searches are carried out by the IIB, it is unsatisfactory to have an Octrooiraad examiner prepare the application, if only because this would mean that three technical experts have to deal with the application. It has therefore been decided to entrust one member or deputy member with the preparatory and divisional work in cases where the IIB has carried out the search. It is expected that this division of work will speed up the handling of applications in the granting procedure. During 1969 directives, which entered into force on January 1, 1970, were worked out for this "concentrated procedure."

In future, when 10,000 of the expected 13,000 requests for novelty search (that is, about four-fifths of the annual number) are entrusted to the IIB, four-fifths of the cases in the granting procedure following the request for novelty search will be handled by the members or deputy members of the Octrooiraad in the "concentrated procedure." During 1969, the necessary increase in the number of members and deputy members gradually took place. The number of examiners, however, will gradually be cut down to the level necessary to carry out 3,000 searches and to do preparatory work for the Division. This means that in future the technical staff of the Octrooiraad may consist of no more than 150 people, of whom two-thirds will be members or deputy members. Recruitment of engineers will be in line with this development.

During 1969 various international activities took place. The reopening, in early 1969, of negotiations for the establishment of a European system for the grant of patents was of great importance. Consultations between the members of the European Economic Community led to an intergovernmental conference of 17 countries in May 1969, at which it was decided to transform the existing draft for a European Patent Convention into a draft Convention for a European system for the grant of patents, open to all European countries, as well as into a draft Convention for a European Patent for the Common Market. The first draft would allow a patent application to be filed with a European Patent Office for one or more European countries, leading to a series of national patents. The second draft would provide for one Community patent for the EEC countries. Both drafts were prepared during three meetings of two different working groups, which produced provisional drafts for publication at the end of 1969. Some members of the Octrooiraad and officers of the Ministry of Economic Affairs took an active part in the preparatory work.

Work on the preparation of the Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT) was nearly completed in 1969 . . . The Netherlands took an active part in the preparation of the Treaty . . .

Much interest (even outside the Council of Europe) was shown in the uniform International Classification of Patents... A draft Treaty was drawn up by the Secretariats of the Council of Europe and BIRPI, which was submitted to a Joint ad hoc Committee in 1969... Representatives of the Octrooiraad regularly took part in the work of the Committee as well as in some working groups...

The important work of ICIREPAT in a Special Union of the Paris Convention makes steady progress. The development of shared use systems proceeds rather slowly as the work is time consuming. Several officers of the Octrooiraad attended the ICIREPAT and Subcommittee meetings and contributed to the development of the work program.

In the field of trademark law an important international development took place. As a result of Belgium's ratification of the Benelux Convention Concerning Trademarks, on July 1, 1969, the Uniform Benelux Trademark Law will enter into force on January 1, 1971. Work on drafting the Rules was continued and preparations for the setting up of the Benelux Trademark Office were started during 1969.

The "Committee of Eight," consisting of representatives of interested circles in the Netherlands, was consulted on many international developments. The Committee has also regularly been consulted on the preparation of a draft for harmonizing the Netherlands Patents Act with established international legislation, such as the European Convention on the Unification of Certain Points of Substantive Law on Patents for Invention and the Paris Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property as revised at Lisbon and Stockholm. The consultations have been very fruitful.

In respect of national developments, it should be mentioned that the Netherlands Patents Act, which underwent some modification, entered into force on June 1, 1969. The modifications mainly concerned the provision on defense and served to harmonize this provision with the NATO Agreement on Mutual Safeguarding of Patent Applications, so that the Netherlands can now ratify the Agreement.

New provisions extended the operation of the Netherlands Patents Act to those parts of the continental shelf of the Netherlands, Surinam and the Netherlands Antilles, over which the Kingdom claims sovereign rights, but only in so far as exploration or exploitation of minerals is concerned.

Finally, the Patents Act has been modernized with regard to the position of the overseas territories.

The number of requests for national and international registration received by the Trademark Office, as well as the number of registrations received from BIRPI, remained unchanged.

In anticipation of the coming into force of the Benelux Trademarks Act on January 1, 1971 — which does not provide for the ex-officio refusal of applications for registration — it was decided in 1969 to alter the refusal policy, as far as refusal on the ground of earlier registrations is concerned. Only trademarks that are identical or almost identical with earlier registrations are refused registration.

HUNGARY

The Seventy-Fifth Anniversary of the National Office for Inventions

The Hungarian Office for Inventions was founded in 1895. On October 29, 1970, the event was commemorated in a ceremony which was held at the Hungarian Academy of Sciences in Budapest.

Several speakers representing both Socialist and Western countries recalled the events of the last 75 years and offered their congratulations.

Dr. Arpad Bogsch, First Deputy Director General of WIPO, transmitted WIPO's best wishes on the occasion.

During the ceremony, Mr. Emil Tasnádi, President of the National Office for Inventions, was decorated with the Gold Medal of the Order of Lahor. Mr. Tasnádi has been President of the Hungarian Office since 1959.

BOOK REVIEWS

A Magyar iparjogvédelem 75 éve [Seventy-Five Years of Hungarian Industrial Property Protection]. Published by the National Office for Inventions, Hungary, 1970. 198 pages.

This book was published in commemoration of the Seventy-Fifth Anniversary of the establishment of the Hungarian Office for Inventions, which was celebrated on October 29, 1970. It contains a Preamble by the President of the Office, Mr. Emil Tasnádi, and a number of essays, including, in particular, one by Dr. Bobrovsky on the Hungarian law on patents and one by Mrs. I. Bognar on the Hungarian law on trademarks. The first independent Hungarian patent law dates from 1895 — the year the National Office for Inventions was created — and was inspired mainly by the German and French views on industrial property at that time. It has been modernized several times, in particular after each of the revision conferences of the Paris Union, to which Hungary adhered in 1909. The institution of inventors' certificates, inspired by the Soviet legislation, was introduced in 1948 but discontinued nine years later in 1957. Both the patent and trademark laws were substantially revised in 1969.

There is an essay on the patent profession by Dr. G. Vékás and a particularly interesting article on patent statistics. They show, among other things, that the percentage of foreign applications was approximately 50 % in 1939, that it dropped to 3 % in 1953, and that it rose again in 1969 to 56 %. The percentage has been growing constantly in recent years. The foreign countries from which most of the applications originate are the German Democratic Republic, Switzerland, the Federal Republic of Germany, the United Kingdom, France, the United States of America, and Italy (in that order).

An article by Dr. Vékás and Dr. Bobrovsky outlines the history of Hungary's foreign relations in the field of industrial property. It is interesting to note that the COMECON countries have established four secretariats for close contacts among them in the field of industrial property: one on patent law, one on trademark law, one on patent classification, and one on international cooperation. The last-mentioned secretariat is provided by the Hungarian Office for Inventions.

Finally, there is an article on the movement for group industrial innovations by Mr. J. Bárkány and one on the most famous inventions of Hungarian inventors in the last 70 years.

The book is attractively produced with many pictures. A. B.

* The figures appearing in parentheses in the columns headed Foreigners indicate the number of instances in which priority was claimed under Article 4 of the Paris Convention. Differentiation between nationals and foreigners is, in general, based on the residence of the applicant rather than on nationality.

 See Chart II for additional information as to some countries. It should be noted that no fees are required to maintain patents in force in Canada and the USA and Cyprus.

¹ The first line of figures relate to patents only; the second line of figures relate to inventors' certificates.

² Period: April 1, 1969 to March 31, 1970.

³ Including 11 registrations of plant varieties.

⁴ Including patents of addition.

⁵ Estimate.

□ Figures not yet available.

* Les chiffres entre parenthèses dans la colonne Etrangers indiquent le nombre de fois où le droit de priorité, prévu à l'article 4 de la Convention de Paris, a été revendiqué. La différenciation entre nationaux et étrangers est, en général, fondée plutôt sur la résidence du déposant que sur sa nationalité.

 Voir Tableau II pour des renseignements supplémentaires pour certains pays. Il n'y a pas de taxes exigibles au Canada, à Chypre ni aux Etats-Unis d'Amérique pour le maintien en vigueur des brevets.

² Période: 1^{er} avril 1969 au 31 mars 1970.

³ Y compris 11 enregistrements d'obtentions végétales.

⁵ Estimation.

¹ Patents kept in force after publication, not application. Figures are valid for period ending June 30, 1969.² Patents kept in force to the end of 1969 after the first to the 18th year of granting.³ Annual fees are not payable until the commencement of the 5th year after issuance and after the 17th year.⁴ Figures do not include 467 patents entered in the State Register in 1969 but on which fees were not paid by January 1, 1970.⁵ Renewal fees are not payable until the commencement of the 5th year. Figures exclude approximately 500 patents of addition on which no renewal fees are payable but include 3200 fees paid in advance of the current year.⁶ Figures relating to patents extended beyond their normal term due to special circumstances.

□ Figures not yet available.

¹ From January to October 1969.

* The figures appearing in parentheses in the columns headed Foreigners indicate the number of instances in which priority was claimed under Article 4 of the Paris Convention. Differentiation between nationals and foreigners is, in general, based on the residence of the applicant rather than on nationality.

* Les chiffres entre parenthèses dans la colonne Etrangers indiquent le nombre de fois où le droit de priorité, prévu à l'article 4 de la Convention de Paris, a été revendiqué. La différenciation entre nationaux et étrangers est, en général, fondée plutôt sur la résidence du déposant que sur sa nationalité.
