

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The author would like to thank all those who have contributed, both directly and indirectly, to this publication. Gratitude is particularly due to the Member States of WIPO for their invaluable support throughout the years and their belief in the Organization's vision. Their tireless efforts have been, and continue to be, vital in the promotion and demystification of the role of intellectual property as a "power tool for economic growth".

The significant contributions made by the eminent and learned members of the Organization's two advisory bodies – the Policy Advisory Commission (PAC) and the Industry Advisory Commission (IAC) are also greatly appreciated.

Special thanks are due to the members of the WIPO Secretariat for their vital part in the realization of this book. The author is particularly grateful to Dr. Raghunath A. Mashelkar, Mr. Barry L. Grossman and Mr. François Curchod for reviewing the manuscript.

The contents of this publication are designed to offer food for thought for the interested reader. They are not intended to be definitive or all-inclusive but, rather, to provide a basis for further reflection and discussion.

"Intellectual Property – A Power Tool for Economic Growth" could be said to be a work-in-progress and does not necessarily reflect the views and positions of the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO).

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Kamil Idris is the Director General of the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO) and Secretary-General of the International Union for the Protection of New Varieties of Plants (UPOV).

Prior to joining WIPO, Mr. Idris was a member of the Sudanese Foreign Service, where he held the rank of Ambassador. While at the Permanent Mission of Sudan to the United Nations Office at Geneva, he was spokesman and coordinator of the Group of Developing Countries.

Mr. Idris holds a PhD in international law from the Graduate Institute of International Studies of the University of Geneva, Switzerland and degrees in law, political science and international affairs from universities in Egypt, Sudan and the United States of America. He was also a professor of law.

Mr. Idris was a member of the United Nations International Law Commission (ILC) from 1992 to 1996 and 2000 to 2001.