Art Unit: 2914

The present application, filed on or after March 16, 2013, is being examined under the first inventor to file provisions of the AIA.

DETAILED ACTION: REFUSAL
REJECTION UNDER 35 U.S.C. 112 PARAGRAPHS 1 AND 2

The claim is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112(a) and (b) or 35 U.S.C. 112 (pre-AIA), first and second paragraphs, as the claimed invention is not described in such full, clear, concise and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to make and use the same, and fails to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claim is nonenabling because the specification, while being enabling for most of the design, does not reasonably provide enablement for the exact shape and appearance of the claimed design. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to make or use the invention commensurate in scope with this claim. The scope of a design includes all that is shown in solid lines.¹ "The only use possible for an ornamental design is its embodiment, exhibition, and observation."² In other words, if one cannot determine what the design looks like from the specification, the claim is not enabled. This claim is not enabled because the design's appearance seen from the drawing views of the Percussion Instrument is insufficiently disclosed.

Specifically, in figures 1.4 through 1.7 show a small dark black semicircular protrusion on the uppermost edge of the curved surface while in figure 1.2 there appears to be no structure that appears to correspond to figures 1.4 through 1.7 (See annotated drawing below)

The claim is indefinite because the appearance of portions of the design as seen from the drawing views cannot be determined without resorting to conjecture. The scope of a claim is definite only when it is supported by an enabling disclosure.³ When the scope of protection sought exceeds what is enabling in the disclosure, the claim is indefinite.

¹ See Ex parte Remington, 114 O.G. 761, 1905 C.D. 28 (Comm'r Pat. 1904); In re Blum, 153 USPQ 177 (CCPA 1967); MPEP § 1503.01

² In re Mann, 8 USPQ2nd 2030

³ A patent claim is invalid if it is not supported by an enabling disclosure. MPEP 2164

Art Unit: 2914

The claim scope must be less than or equal to the scope of the enablement.⁴ The scope of enablement, in turn, is that which is disclosed in the specification and is understandable to a designer of ordinary skill in the art without resorting to conjecture.

This rejection may be overcome amending the drawing and description as follows:

- In Figures 1.4 through 17 remove the dark black semicircular element.

The examiner makes note that removing the unknown feature in figures 1.4 through 1.7 this will NOT be considered new matter with the understanding that figure 1.2 provides support for the removal. In the alternative, any attempt to provide clarification by adding the missing dark black element to figure 1.2 may result in an introduction of new matter because from this view point additional structure and or a specific location may be revealed that there is no support for in figure 1.4 through 1.7.

Applicant is reminded that any reply to this Refusal must be signed either by a patent practitioner (i.e., a patent attorney or agent registered to practice before the United States Patent and Trademark Office) or by the applicant. If the applicant is a juristic entity, the reply must be signed by a patent practitioner. See 37 CFR 1.33(b).

The claim stands rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first and second paragraphs. The references cited are possible pertinent art.
