

ADMINISTRATIVE PANEL DECISION

Frankie Shop, LLC v. newbie man
Case No. D2026-1388

1. The Parties

The Complainant is Frankie Shop, LLC, United States of America ("United States"), represented by Coblenz Avocats, France.

The Respondent is newbie man, United States.

2. The Domain Name and Registrar

The disputed domain name <thefrankieshopcollection.shop> (the "Disputed Domain Name") is registered with Spaceship, Inc. (the "Registrar").

3. Procedural History

The Complaint was filed with the WIPO Arbitration and Mediation Center (the "Center") on April 1, 2026. On April 1, 2026, the Center transmitted by email to the Registrar a request for registrar verification in connection with the Disputed Domain Name. On April 1, 2026, the Registrar transmitted by email to the Center its verification response disclosing registrant and contact information for the Disputed Domain Name which differed from the named Respondent (Redacted for Privacy, Privacy Service Provided by Withheld for Privacy ehf) and contact information in the Complaint. The Center sent an email communication to the Complainant on April 2, 2026, providing the registrant and contact information disclosed by the Registrar, and inviting the Complainant to submit an amendment to the Complaint. The Complainant filed an amended Complaint on April 3, 2026.

The Center verified that the Complaint together with the amended Complaint satisfied the formal requirements of the Uniform Domain Name Dispute Resolution Policy (the "Policy" or "UDRP"), the Rules for Uniform Domain Name Dispute Resolution Policy (the "Rules"), and the WIPO Supplemental Rules for Uniform Domain Name Dispute Resolution Policy (the "Supplemental Rules").

In accordance with the Rules, paragraphs 2 and 4, the Center formally notified the Respondent of the Complaint, and the proceedings commenced on April 8, 2026. In accordance with the Rules, paragraph 5, the due date for Response was April 28, 2026. The Respondent did not submit any response. Accordingly, the Center notified the Respondent's default on May 4, 2026.

The Center appointed Lynda M. Braun as the sole panelist in this matter on May 15, 2026. The Panel finds that it was properly constituted. The Panel has submitted the Statement of Acceptance and Declaration of Impartiality and Independence, as required by the Center to ensure compliance with the Rules, paragraph 7.

4. Factual Background

Founded in 2014, the Complainant is a limited liability company registered in the State of New York, United States. The Complainant specializes in the marketing and sale of clothing, accessories (leather goods, jewelry, etc.), women's shoes, and cosmetics using the trademark THE FRANKIE SHOP, as well as third party brands. The Complainant markets and sells its products in brick-and-mortar retail shops in select locations, and online at its principal websites located at "www.thefrankieshop.com" and "www.eu.thefrankieshop.com". The Complainant has provided evidence that its trademark and products are well known within the fashion sector.

The Complainant owns the following registered trademarks: THE FRANKIE SHOP, International Trademark Registration No. 1648994, registered on October 12, 2021, in International Classes 3, 4, 9, 14, 18, 25 and 35 (designating numerous jurisdictions); THE FRANKIE SHOP, International Trademark Registration No. 1759868, registered on September 1, 2023, in International Classes 24 and 35 (designating numerous jurisdictions, including the United States, where the Respondent purportedly resides); TSF (stylized), International Trademark Registration No. 1730697, registered on December 5, 2022, in International Classes 3, 4, 9, 14, 18, 25 and 35 (designating jurisdictions); and TSF (stylized) International Trademark Registration No. 1836844, registered on September 11, 2024, in International Classes 24 and 35 (designating numerous jurisdictions) (hereinafter collectively referred to as "THE FRANKIE SHOP Mark").

The Disputed Domain Name was registered on March 8, 2026, and redirects to a website headed with the Complainant's THE FRANKIE SHOP Mark, offering a range of clothing and accessory products labeled with the Complainant's THE FRANKIE SHOP Mark (among other brands), and also displaying the TSF stylized trademarks listed above without permission or authorization. Text on the website includes statements, among others copied from the Complainant's official website, such as THE FRANKIE SHOP – HIGH END FASHION CLOTHES FOR WOMEN. The Complainant indicates that the Respondent's website also includes the sale of products and photographs of the Complainant's products and fashion models without authorization, and the promotion and sale of the Complainant's products with significant discounts. For instance, the prices for the products listed on the Respondent's website are substantially lower than comparable prices shown on the Complainant's website, such that the Complainant advises that the products offered by the Respondent are likely counterfeit.

5. Parties' Contentions

A. Complainant

The Complainant contends that it has satisfied each of the elements required under the Policy for a transfer of the Disputed Domain Name. Notably, the Complainant contends that:

- the Disputed Domain Name is confusingly similar to the Complainant's THE FRANKIE SHOP Mark because the Disputed Domain Name contains THE FRANKIE SHOP Mark in its entirety, followed by the term "collection", then followed by the generic Top-Level Domain ("gTLD") ".shop", which does not prevent a finding of confusing similarity;

- the Respondent has no rights or legitimate interests in respect of the Disputed Domain Name because, among other things, the Complainant has not authorized the Respondent to register a domain name containing THE FRANKIE SHOP Mark, and the Respondent has never been commonly known by the Disputed Domain Name; and

- the Disputed Domain Name was registered and is being used in bad faith because, among other things, the Respondent uses the Disputed Domain Name to feature alleged counterfeit goods, or at least identical goods to those sold by the Complainant on its official website at significant discounts, for the purpose of deceiving unsuspecting consumers, and the Respondent must have been aware of THE FRANKIE SHOP Mark when it registered the Disputed Domain Name.

The Complainant seeks the transfer of the Disputed Domain Name from the Respondent to the Complainant.

B. Respondent

The Respondent did not reply to the Complainant's contentions.

6. Discussion and Findings

In order for the Complainant to prevail and have the Disputed Domain Name transferred to the Complainant, the Complainant must prove the following (Policy, paragraph 4(a)):

- (i) the Disputed Domain Name is identical or confusingly similar to a trademark or service mark in which the Complainant has rights;
- (ii) the Respondent has no rights or legitimate interests in respect of the Disputed Domain Name; and
- (iii) the Disputed Domain Name was registered and is being used in bad faith.

A. Identical or Confusingly Similar

Paragraph 4(a)(i) of the Policy requires a two-fold inquiry: a threshold investigation into whether a complainant has rights in a trademark, followed by an assessment of whether the disputed domain name is identical or confusingly similar to that trademark. The Panel concludes that in the present case, the Disputed Domain Name is confusingly similar to THE FRANKIE SHOP Mark as explained below.

It is well accepted that the first element functions primarily as a standing requirement. The standing (or threshold) test for confusing similarity involves a reasoned but relatively straightforward comparison between the complainant's trademark and the disputed domain name. See WIPO Overview of WIPO Panel Views on Select UDRP Questions, ("WIPO Overview 3.1"), section 1.7.

The Complainant has established rights in THE FRANKIE SHOP Mark based on its registered trademarks for THE FRANKIE SHOP Mark. The consensus view of panels is that "[w]here the complainant holds a nationally or regionally registered trademark or service mark, this prima facie satisfies the threshold requirement of having trademark rights for purposes of standing to file a UDRP case". See WIPO Overview 3.1, section 1.2.1. Therefore, the Panel finds that the Complainant has rights in THE FRANKIE SHOP Mark.

The Disputed Domain Name incorporates THE FRANKIE SHOP Mark in its entirety, and is then followed by the term “collection”, then followed by the gTLD “.shop”. The test for confusing similarity involves a side-by-side comparison of the domain name and the textual components of the relevant trademark to assess whether the mark is recognizable within the disputed domain name. Here, THE FRANKIE SHOP Mark is recognizable within the Disputed Domain Name.

As stated in section 1.8 of WIPO Overview 3.1, “where the relevant trademark is recognizable within the disputed domain name, the addition of other terms (whether descriptive . . . or otherwise) would not prevent a finding of confusing similarity under the first element”.

Thus, the addition of the term “collection” to the Complainant’s THE FRANKIE SHOP Mark in the Disputed Domain Name does not prevent a finding of confusing similarity. See e.g., Allianz Global Investors of America, L.P. and Pacific Investment Management Company (PIMCO) v. Bingo-Bongo, WIPO Case No. D2011-0795; and Hoffmann-La Roche Inc. v. Wei-Chun Hsia, WIPO Case No. D2008-0923.

Further, the addition of a gTLD such as “.shop” in a domain name is a technical requirement. As such, it is well established that a gTLD may typically be disregarded when assessing whether a disputed domain name is identical or confusingly similar to a trademark. See Proactiva Medio Ambiente, S.A. v. Proactiva, WIPO Case No. D2012-0182, and WIPO Overview 3.1, section 1.11.1. Thus, the Panel finds that the Disputed Domain Name is confusingly similar to the Complainant’s THE FRANKIE SHOP Mark.

Based on the available record, the Panel finds that the first element of the Policy has been established.

B. Rights or Legitimate Interests

Paragraph 4(c) of the Policy provides a list of circumstances in which the Respondent may demonstrate rights or legitimate interests in a disputed domain name. Although the overall burden of proof in UDRP proceedings is on the complainant, panels have recognized that proving that a respondent lacks rights or legitimate interests in a domain name may result in the difficult task of “proving a negative”, requiring information that is often primarily within the knowledge or control of the respondent. As such, where a complainant makes out a prima facie case that the respondent lacks rights or legitimate interests, the burden of production on this element shifts to the respondent to come forward with relevant evidence demonstrating rights or legitimate interests in the domain name (although the burden of proof always remains on the complainant). If the respondent fails to come forward with such relevant evidence, the complainant is deemed to have satisfied the second element. WIPO Overview 3.1, section 2.1.

In this case, given the facts as set out above, the Panel finds that the Complainant has made out a prima facie case. The Respondent has not submitted any arguments or evidence to rebut the Complainant’s prima facie case. Furthermore, the Complainant has not authorized, licensed, or otherwise permitted the Respondent to use THE FRANKIE SHOP Mark. Nor does the Complainant have any type of business relationship with the Respondent. There is also no evidence that the Respondent is commonly known by the Disputed Domain Name or by any similar name, nor any evidence that the Respondent was using or making demonstrable preparations to use the Disputed Domain Name in connection with a bona fide offering of goods or services. See Policy, paragraph 4(c).

The Disputed Domain Name redirects to a website displaying and selling unauthorized clothing and accessories bearing THE FRANKIE SHOP Mark, and thus, the Respondent does not have rights or legitimate interests in the Disputed Domain Name. When Internet users arrive at the Respondent's website, they will find a site in which the Respondent attempts to pass off as the Complainant, purportedly offering, according to the Complainant, counterfeit products, or at least products with significant discounts, to customers. The Panel thus determines that the Respondent is not making a bona fide offering of goods nor a legitimate noncommercial or fair use of the Disputed Domain Name but rather is using the Disputed Domain Name for commercial gain with the intent to mislead the Complainant's customers into believing that they had arrived at the Complainant's website. The Panel also determines that the use of the Disputed Domain Name to pass off as the Complainant to offer competing or potentially counterfeit goods does not confer rights or legitimate interests on the Respondent. See WIPO Overview 3.1, section 2.13.1 ("Panels have categorically held that the use of a domain name for illegal activity (e.g., the sale of counterfeit goods [...]) impersonation/passing off, or other types of fraud) can never confer rights or legitimate interests on a respondent.").

In sum, the Panel finds that the Complainant has established an un rebutted prima facie case that the Respondent lacks rights or legitimate interests in the Disputed Domain Name.

Based on the available record, the Panel finds that the second element of the Policy has been established.

C. Registered and Used in Bad Faith

The Panel notes that, for the purposes of paragraph 4(a)(iii) of the Policy, paragraph 4(b) of the Policy establishes circumstances, in particular, but without limitation, that, if found by the Panel to be present, shall be evidence of the registration and use of a domain name in bad faith.

The Panel finds that based on the record, the Complainant has demonstrated the existence of the Respondent's bad faith registration and use of the Disputed Domain Name pursuant to paragraph 4(a)(iii) of the Policy. Paragraph 4(b) of the Policy sets out a list of non-exhaustive circumstances that may indicate that a domain name was registered and used in bad faith, but other circumstances may be relevant in assessing whether a respondent's registration and use of a domain name is in bad faith. WIPO Overview 3.1, section 3.2.1.

Panels have held that the use of a domain name for illegitimate activity, such as here, passing off, constitutes bad faith. WIPO Overview 3.1, section 3.4. Having reviewed the record, the Panel finds the Respondent's registration and use of the Disputed Domain Name constitutes bad faith under the Policy due to the Respondent's passing off of the Complainant and its official website to offer competing or potentially counterfeit goods to unwitting customers.

The Respondent attempted to pass off as the Complainant by creating a similar website offering THE FRANKIE SHOP products, demonstrating bad faith. Therefore, it strains credulity to believe that the Respondent had not known of the Complainant or THE FRANKIE SHOP Mark when registering the Disputed Domain Name. See Myer Stores Limited v. Mr. David John Singh, WIPO Case No. D2001-0763 ("a finding of bad faith may be made where the respondent 'knew or should have known' of the registration and/or use of the trademark prior to registering the domain name"). In this regard, the fact that the Respondent featured goods bearing THE FRANKIE SHOP Mark on its website also indicates that the Respondent was aware of the Complainant, its trademarks and website. Rather, the Panel notes that the composition of the Disputed Domain Name, together with its use, affirms the Respondent's intention to take unfair advantage of the likelihood of confusion between the Disputed Domain Name and the Complainant as to the origin or affiliation of the website at the resolving Disputed Domain Name. In sum, the Panel finds that the Respondent had the Complainant's THE FRANKIE SHOP Mark in mind when registering the Disputed Domain Name.

Moreover, the use of a domain name to intentionally attempt to attract Internet users to a respondent's website or online location by creating a likelihood of confusion with a complainant's mark as to the source, sponsorship, affiliation or endorsement of the registrant's website or online location for commercial gain demonstrates registration and use in bad faith.

Here, the Respondent's registration and use of the Disputed Domain Name indicates that such registration and use had been done for the specific purpose of trading upon and targeting the name, mark, and goodwill of the Complainant. See Madonna Ciccone, p/k/a Madonna v. Dan Parisi and "Madonna.com", WIPO Case No. D2000-0847 ("[t]he only plausible explanation for Respondent's actions appears to be an intentional effort to trade upon the fame of Complainant's name and mark for commercial gain").

Finally, the Panel concludes that the Respondent's registration of the Disputed Domain Name was an attempt to disrupt the Complainant's business. See Banco Bradesco S.A. v. Fernando Camacho Bohm, WIPO Case No. D2010-1552. The Respondent's use of the Disputed Domain Name was also likely to confuse Internet users into incorrectly believing that the Respondent was authorized or sponsored by or affiliated with the Complainant.

Based on the available record, the Panel finds that the third element of the Policy has been established.

7. Decision

For the foregoing reasons, in accordance with paragraphs 4(i) of the Policy and 15 of the Rules, the Panel orders that the disputed domain name <thefrankieshopcollection.shop> be transferred to the Complainant.

/Lynda M. Braun/

Lynda M. Braun

Sole Panelist

Date: May 18, 2026