

Submission of Information by Third Parties

Russian Federation

After the publication of information on application for an invention, any person has the right to submit his/her comments on the conformity of the claimed invention with the requirements and conditions of patentability established by the Civil Code of the Russian Federation. Such persons shall not participate in the proceedings on such applications. Comments shall be taken into account when deciding on such applications.