PROPOSAL OF MEXICO ON WOMEN AND IP

The Permanent Mission of Mexico to the United Nations Office and other International Organizations in Geneva has the honor to refer to the 26th session of the Committee on Development and Intellectual Property (CDIP) of the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO) to be held from 26 to 30 July, 2021.

In this regard, it is recalled that the decision on “Women and IP” adopted by the CDIP in November 2018 of which the General Assembly took note in October 2019, states that the Committee decided “to revisit the issue “Women and IP” at its 26th session for the way forward, including through a sharing session organized by the Secretariat to facilitate discussions envisaged under points 5-10 of the decision, and further sharing sessions, if agreed”.

In the decision, the Committee acknowledges the importance of fostering opportunities for gender equality; empowering women and girls’ innovators and creators; incorporating a gender perspective into IP policies and promoting an inclusive IP system accessible to all, to bridge gender gaps in intellectual property and increase the participation of women and girls in innovative solutions to tackle some of the major problems humanity faces.

As a key cross-cutting issue “Women and IP” requires a close follow-up by WIPO. Mexico appreciates that WIPO is actively working towards gender equality and full female participation in the international intellectual property rights system through training, mentoring and awareness among other activities.

Having in mind the commitment to promote gender equality and the empowerment of women in the intellectual property, Mexico has prepared the present document with the aim to guide the future work of the CDIP regarding the topic “Women and IP”. In this sense, Mexico proposes the consideration and adoption by the CDIP of the following decision:

The CDIP decides to:

1. Revisit the issue “Women and IP” periodically, when WIPO Secretariat deems to be necessary, under the IP and Development agenda item, starting at the CDIP spring session of 2023.
2. Request the continuation of the sharing sessions on relevant topics of the decision on Women and Intellectual Property as an opportunity for Member states to discuss the issue, exchange best practices and improve their understanding on the issue.
3. Reiterate the importance of accurate data and encourage WIPO Secretariat to continue the compilation of comparable and disaggregated international data on the gender of IP rights owners and creators.
4. Express its appreciation for WIPO’s determination to promote gender mainstreaming in its programs and policies as well as its capacity building activities..
5. Take note of WIPO’s work towards reviewing WIPO’s Policy on Gender Equality, in accordance with the Staff Regulations and Rules.
6. Request WIPO Secretariat to assist Member States, upon request, on the implementation of programs, projects, and other activities aimed to encourage women and girl’s involvement in IP.
