

WHO, WIPO, WTO Workshop on Innovation in, and Access to, COVID-19 Technologies:

Accessing and Using Information Resources for the Pandemic Response

Dr. Stacey Arnold is a Subject Matter Expert for the ClinicalTrials.gov Results Quality Control Team at the National Center for Biotechnology Information, in the National Library of Medicine at the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, MD. She first joined ClinicalTrials.gov in 2011 as a Results Reviewer. In her current role, she participates in the development of educational materials and trainings intended to facilitate the successful completion of results submissions. She is also contributing to ongoing efforts to modernize both the ClinicalTrials.gov public site and the Protocol Registration and Results System (PRS), the database researchers use to submit studies for posting on ClinicalTrials.gov. Prior to joining ClinicalTrials.gov, she received her PhD in Biological Chemistry from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, and conducted post-doctoral research at the Institute of Genetic Medicine at Johns Hopkins in Baltimore.