

Ms. Melissa Morgia

Director of Global Content Protection and Enforcement, International Federation of the Phonographic Industry (IFPI), United Kingdom

Melissa Morgia is the Director of Global Content Protection and Enforcement at IFPI, based in London.

The Global Content Protection and Enforcement department is dedicated to safeguarding and enforcing the intellectual property rights of IFPI's member record companies. It deploys and coordinates strategic actions to remove and prevent infringements online, to disrupt infringing services and bring enforcement actions against those responsible for unlawful activities.

Prior to her current role, Melissa was the Acting Director of Global Litigation at IFPI. She also previously held legal positions in the Intellectual Property department at the BBC and the law firm, Olswang LLP (now CMS).

In addition to degrees in Law and Communications, Melissa holds a Post-Graduate Diploma in Intellectual Law and Practice from the University of Oxford.

Ms. Catherine Lloyd

Senior Legal Adviser, IFPI, United Kingdom

Catherine Lloyd joined IFPI in 2011 and is a Senior Legal Adviser in the Litigation team based in London.

Catherine is a UK qualified solicitor and has over eleven years of experience in intellectual property law. Catherine specializes in international copyright litigation, anti-piracy and rights enforcement.

Catherine advises and assists IFPI's National Groups around the world in these matters with a particular focus on website blocking and stream ripping actions.

Catherine holds a degree in Law, an MA in Modern Languages and a BA in Hispanic Studies. Prior to joining IFPI, Catherine worked at the law firm Taylor Wessing LLP, which specializes in Intellectual Property matters.