ARTICLES 4 AND 16
Formalities relating to protection of traditional knowledge

(1) Protection of traditional knowledge shall not be subject to any formality.

(2) In the interests of transparency, evidence and the preservation of traditional knowledge, relevant national authorities of Contracting States and regional bodies may maintain registers or other records of the knowledge, where appropriate and subject to relevant policies, laws and procedures, and the needs and aspirations of the traditional knowledge holders concerned.

(3) The registers maintained under paragraph (2) of this article may be associated with specific forms of protection, and shall not compromise the status of hitherto undisclosed traditional knowledge or the interests of holders of traditional knowledge in relation to undisclosed elements of their knowledge.
ARTICLE 5

Beneficiaries of protection of traditional knowledge

The owners of the rights under this Part shall be the holders of traditional knowledge, namely the local and traditional communities and recognized individuals within the communities, who create, preserve or transmit knowledge in a traditional and intergenerational context in accordance with the provisions of Article 3.
ARTICLE 6
Rights conferred to holders of traditional knowledge

(1) This instrument shall confer on the owners of rights referred to in Article 5 the exclusive right to exploit their traditional knowledge.

(2) Subject to the conditions and limits established by this instrument, owners of rights in traditional knowledge shall have the right to prohibit any person from exploiting and disseminating their protected traditional knowledge without their prior informed consent.

(3) For the purposes of this instrument, the term "exploitation" with reference to protected traditional knowledge shall refer to any of the following acts:

(a) where the traditional knowledge is a product:
   (i) manufacturing, importing, offering for sale, selling or using the product beyond the traditional context; or
   (ii) being in possession of the product for the purposes of offering it for sale, selling it or using it beyond the traditional context; and

(b) where the traditional knowledge is a process:
   (i) making use of the process beyond the traditional context; or
   (ii) carrying out the acts referred to under subparagraph (a) of this paragraph with respect to a product that is a direct result of the use of the process.

(4) In addition to all other rights, remedies and action available to them, the owners of the rights in tradition knowledge shall have the right to institute legal proceedings against any person who carries out any of the acts mentioned in paragraph (3) of this article without the owners’ permission.
ARTICLE 7

Assignment and licensing

(1) Owners of rights in traditional knowledge shall have the right to assign and conclude licensing agreements, notwithstanding that traditional knowledge belonging to a local or traditional community may not be assigned.

(2) All access, authorizations, assignments or licences granted in respect of protected traditional knowledge shall be granted in writing, otherwise they shall be of no force or effect.

(3) A document drawn up for the purpose of paragraph (2) of this article shall be approved by the appropriate authority, failing which the document shall be void.
ARTICLE 11

Compulsory licence

(1) Where protected traditional knowledge is not being sufficiently exploited by the rights holder, or where the holder of rights in traditional knowledge refuses to grant licences subject to reasonable commercial terms and conditions, a Contracting State may, in the interests of public security or public health, grant a compulsory licence in order to fulfil national needs.

(2) In the absence of an agreement between the parties, an appropriate amount of compensation for the compulsory licence shall be fixed by a court of competent jurisdiction.
ARTICLE 12

Duration of protection of traditional knowledge

Traditional knowledge shall be protected for so long as the knowledge fulfils the protection criteria referred to under article 3, except that where traditional knowledge belongs to an individual, protection shall last for 25 years following the exploitation of knowledge beyond its traditional context by the individual.
ARTICLE 14

Access to traditional knowledge associated with genetic resources

Authorization under this instrument to access protected traditional knowledge associated with genetic resources shall not imply authorization to access the genetic resources derived from the traditional
ARTICLE 23

Regional protection of traditional knowledge and expressions of folklore

(1) Existing or new regional organizations may be entrusted with the task of:
(a) settling cases of concurrent claims from communities of different countries with regard to traditional knowledge; and
(b) resolving opposing claims to expressions of folklore by communities from different countries.

(2) For the purpose of paragraph (1) of the article, the organizations referred to in that paragraph shall make use of customary laws, local information sources and extrajudicial means for settling disputes, and any other practical mechanism which the organization may consider necessary.
ARTICLE 25

Protection under other legal mechanisms

The protection of traditional knowledge and expressions of folklore provided for by this instrument shall not preclude alternative legal protection mechanisms.
