As a result of their ratification of the Protocol of Geneva (1975) and its entry into force on April 1, 1979, Belgium and the Netherlands became, again, as from that date, members of the Hague Union.

AMERICAN TYPE CULTURE COLLECTION²

(United States of America)

Kinds of Microorganisms That May Be Deposited

Algae, bacteria (including actinomycetes), bacteria containing plasmids (with the limitations noted below), bacteriophages, cell cultures (including hybridoma lines), fungi (including yeasts), protozoa and animal and plant viruses (with the limitations noted below).

The American Type Culture Collection must be informed, in advance of accepting a deposit for a bacterium containing a plasmid, of the physical containment level required for experiments using the host vector system, as described in the 1980 National Institutes of Health Guidelines for Research Involving Recombinant DNA Molecules (i.e., P1, P2, P3 or P4 facility). The American Type Culture Collection, for the time being, will accept only those hosts containing plasmids which can be worked in a P1 or P2 facility.

Certain animal viruses may require viability testing in an animal host, which the American Type Culture Collection may be unable to provide. In a case where it cannot provide viability testing, the deposit cannot be accepted. Plant viruses which cannot be mechanically inoculated also cannot be accepted.

² See Industrial Property, 1981, pp. 20 and 121.

Fees

The fee for storage is US$ 870 or, if the right under Rule 11.4(g) to be notified of the furnishing of samples is waived, US$ 570.

The fee for the issuance of a viability statement is:

— bacteria (without plasmids)	US$ 100.00
— fungi (including yeast)	100.00
— protozoa	100.00
— algae	100.00
— animal cell cultures (including hybridoma lines)	fee must be decided on an individual basis*
— animal and plant viruses
— bacteria (with plasmids)

The fee for the furnishing of a sample under Rules 11.2 and 11.3 is (per sample):

— selected samples furnished to high schools	US$ 9.00
— non-profit institutions:
— selected samples for educational use	19.50
— other samples	34.00
— commercial firms	54.50

* The testing of some of these items may require testing in animals (i.e., horse) or other expensive procedures, and the fee cannot be determined until the exact nature of the material is known.

 Shipping charges are to be added to the fee itself.

Acquisition of the Status of International Depositary Authority

NATIONAL COLLECTION OF YEAST CULTURES

The following written communication addressed to the Director General of WIPO by the Permanent Representative of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and

Northern Ireland to the United Nations Office and other International Organizations at Geneva under Article 7 of the Budapest Treaty on the International Recognition of the Deposit of Microorganisms for the Purposes of Patent Procedure was received on November 24, 1981, and is published by the International Bureau of WIPO pursuant to Article 7(2)(a) of the said Treaty:

"1. I have the honour to refer to the Budapest Treaty on the International Recognition of the Deposit of Microorganisms for the Purposes of Patent Procedure, opened for signature at Budapest from the 28th of April to the 31st of December 1977. In accordance with the provisions of Article 7 of the said Treaty, the Government of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland nominate the National Collection of Yeast Cultures as an International Depositary Authority. The Government of the United Kingdom furnish their assurances that the National Collection of Yeast Cultures complies and will continue to comply with the requirements specified in Article 6(2) of the Treaty for an International Depositary Authority. The requisite information concerning this nominated Depositary Institution is set out below.

"2. Accordingly I have the further honour to request that you carry out the procedures established by the Treaty and Regulations annexed to it, in connection with the acquisition of the status of International Depositary Authority by the Institution nominated herein.

"3. The National Collection of Yeast Cultures (NCYC) is located in the United Kingdom at the Food Research Institute, Colney Lane, Norwich, Norfolk, NR4 7UA, England.

"4. The NCYC is the responsibility of the Agricultural Research Council (ARC), a body established in the United Kingdom by Royal Charter.

"5. The NCYC has been in continuous existence since 1951. Previously housed at the laboratories of the Brewing Research Foundation, it was relocated to the laboratories of the Agricultural Research Council's Food Research Institute in June 1980. The NCYC has a staff of three, two of whom hold University degrees and one an equivalent qualification. Additional administrative and technical support staff are available. This staff is fully competent and adequate to perform the scientific and administrative tasks required under the Budapest Treaty. The NCYC is affiliated to the World Federation for Culture Collections and has a recognised reputation for work concerned with the preservation, testing, authentication and distribution of yeasts other than known pathogens. At present the collection contains about 1500 strains of such micro-organisms. The NCYC performs its work in an impartial and objective way and will be available for the purposes of Deposit under the Treaty to any Depositor under the same conditions.

"6. The NCYC has all the facilities necessary for the culturing, checking and long term preservation of yeasts. Cultures are maintained routinely by freeze-drying, with subculturing as a back-up method. Storage in liquid nitrogen is expected to replace subculturing as a back-up method. Patent cultures and records relating to them are stored in locked drawers and files. Only authorised staff have access to them. To minimise the risk of loss, duplicate cultures are stored in a building separate from that housing the main collection.

"7. The NCYC is equipped and run in full accordance with the United Kingdom Health and Safety at Work Act, 1974.

"8. The NCYC will accept for deposit yeasts other than known pathogens that can be preserved without significant change to their properties by freeze-drying or, exceptionally, in active culture.

"9. In accordance with the Regulations for implementing the Budapest Treaty the NCYC will:

- (a) examine the viability of such kinds of organisms and store them;
- (b) issue receipt and viability statements as prescribed;
- (c) comply with the prescribed secrecy requirements; and
- (d) furnish samples under the conditions and in conformity with the prescribed procedures.

"10. On behalf of the nominated Depositary Institution, I have the honour to inform you that in accordance with Rule 6.3(a) the NCYC requires before it will accept a micro-organism for deposit:

- (i) that a deposit of a micro-organism should be in an appropriate form and adequate quantity to enable NCYC to carry out properly its duties under the Regulations;
- (ii) that the Accession Form established by the NCYC for the purpose of administrative procedures be completed;
- (iii) that the written statement referred to in Rule 6.1(a) or 6.2(a) be drafted in English;
- (iv) that the fee for storage referred to in Rule 12.1(a)(i) be paid; and
- (v) that the depositor complete the Application Form of the NCYC in entering into a contract with the NCYC establishing the terms and conditions on which deposit will be accepted.

"11. The following fees are payable to the NCYC:

for storage of the micro-organisms in accordance with the Treaty—£240; for issue of a Viability Statement in those cases in which, in accordance with Rule 10.2, a fee may be charged—£25; for furnishing of a sample in accordance with Rule 11.2 or 11.3—£10 plus the actual cost of carriage.

All charges paid within the United Kingdom are subject to Value Added Tax at the current rate.

"12. The NCYC conducts all its business in English."
