

Show and Tell Presentation Competition

List of common questions and answers

Q. Can I apply if I am not a Japanese national?

A. Anyone who has student status in Japan can apply.

Q. Can parents help their children to complete online registration?

A. Yes, parents can support their children to complete online registration as long as it is the applicant child who is making the presentation. Please be informed that the parental consent is required for those under-aged participants.

Q. Is application only available in Japanese?

A. No. You can submit your presentation either in Japanese or English.

Q. What kind of prize is to be awarded?

A. Two expected awards (Gold and Silver) will be given to two winners from each education level (i.e. primary, secondary and high school as well as university). They will each receive a certificate of commendation and a prize. Book gift card will be given to winners from primary, secondary, and high school, and mirror-less camera or Go Pro Camera will be given for those winners from University.

Q. I have not turned my idea into material invention, but can I still present about it?

A. Yes, it is also very welcome to present your ideas or even intangible things. For instance, you can present about SDGs-related topics, or interview that reflects your opinions.

Q. How will submitted video be treated after application?

A. Only those shortlisted will be used for IP awareness raising purposes on WIPO platforms.

Q. Is it possible to register for the presentation contest as an observer?

A. No, the contest will be by invitation only, however, you will be able to find the highlight-movie of the contest that will be available to public afterward. You are also invited to watch the full presentations of the finalists on our dedicated webpage.

Q. Can I submit the video that has been published online such as on my social media?

A. No you cannot submit a video that has been previously published.. For the further detail, please refer to competition rule 5.2.3.

Q. Are there any requirements on aspect ratio or quality of the video?

A. No, there are no such requirements, however, the size of video needs to be up to 100MB to submit.